Cinnamon bark extract

Cinnamon bark extract which can influence the regulation of the sebum production. Inhibits the proliferation of microbes and boosts immune defences. Fights inflammation. Controls hyperkeratinization (cornification).

Pumpkin seed extract

The extract is obtained from pumpkin seeds, and has the natural effect of matting the skin, which lasts for up to 8 hours without drying the skin out. With a moisturizing and skin cleansing effect it is non-comedogenic.

Milk-peptide-complex

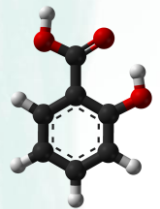

This perfects the secret of beauty with an especially skin-flattering component from pure milk.

Salicylic acid ester

Salicylic acid occurs naturally in the bark of the willow.

This salicylic acid ester has a keratolytic effect, removes hornification and possesses very good spreading properties.
